A MISSION TO THE MISSION INDIANS The appointment of Mrs. Heler Hunt Jackson (as noted in a TIMES tel egram published in Sunday's issue) as a special agent of the Indian Office to investigate the condition of the Mission Indians in Southern California, is in the nature of a new departure on the part of the Government; but we trust it will not prove an unwise departure Judging from the character, acquire ments and opportunities for observa tion possessed by Mrs. Jackson, it ought not to prove so. It is true that these Indians are already under the care of a regular agent, who is sup posed to be charged with the entire duty of protecting them and advising for their report with interest. Rev. John G. Ames, was sent out from flashing the lightning of genius in the Interior Department, with an assistant, Mr. Sleigh, also of the same a gentleman eminent in journalism Department, to investigate and report and public affairs, whose name, if upon the condition of these Mission given, would make "the little girl" and Indians. They made a brief visit to their reservation in San Bernarthat any material change in the Indians' condition resulted.

Trouble among reservation as well as wild Indians originates too often in the cussedness of the white man. Is it any wonder that the untutored savage, who knows he is be ing robbed, and is powerless to hel himself, should occasionally break ou into a state of insurrection? It would he less or more than human natur and especially Indian human natur if it were otherwise."

The remedy is justice. Do justice to the Indian, at the same time keep ing a tight rein on turbulent spirits and the whole question of handling these people is simplified.

We do not anticipate that Mrs. Jack son and her assistant will find occasion to recommend the killing of any agent of the Mission Indians; but they are expected to do their duty, whatever it may be. Let justice be done though the heavens fall on the whole tribe of ""

MATHEMATICS AND YOUTHFUL DE-

An eight-year-old Baltimore girl ied recently from congestion of the brain, caused, the doc or's certificate says, by over-study. This poor litle victim of the vicious cramming and forcing process in education raved in her delirium about p oblems in long division which she tried to solve. One particular sum she went over and over sonin. "Whenever there came a nause in her monotonous calculations, there was sure to be a wail of despair, and then she would recommence the sum." The system which fosters, permits or makes possible a result so deplorable as this, is wrong and criminal. It is a crime against life and health for educators to heap burdens upon children of tender years which are too great for them to bear, and it should be prohibited by law. Even where the hotbed process does not fortunately produce ill-health and broken constitutionsresults too often seen in our public schools-it results in little substantial and permanent good to the pupil, whose youthful and tender brain is overtaxed to such an extent that repugnance to study ensues, and the lessons learned by rote, and recited parrot-like in school, are soon forgotten when the child has passed the portals of the school-room and gone out to
